Further Changes Are Promised by Miss

LOS ANGELES, Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—The Los Angeles county grand jury today was preparing to take up an investigation of liquor law administration started by a special senate committee.

George Rochester, grand jury foreman, said this body was preparing to act on information disclosed in the senate inquiry.

Developments in the probe today found Captain Bert Massey, administrator of the local liquor control office, and D. M. Huddleston, chief assistant, removed from office by order of Jean Shontz, member of the state board of equalization.

"The inquiry by the special senate committee on civil service has served to bring matters to light, which in spite of my vigilance and best judgment, I had not learned," said a statement by Miss Shontz. "After careful study and investigation of these matters, I have concluded that the services of Bert T. Massey, chief liquor control officer, and Dan H. Huddleston, assistant chief liquor control officer, are not for the best interests of this department and I am therefore, today, requesting that they be separated from the payroll and I expect to make such further changes in the personnel of the office as may be deemed advisable by me."

Commenting on the inquiry, Grand Jury Foreman Rochester said, "This change of personnel of the board of liquor control does not mean that the grand jury has completed its investigation. From the mass of testimony taken before the special committee we shall continue our inquiry. If we find anything of a criminal nature we shall bring in indictments."

SCHOOL COST

Budgets for County's
District $100,000
Under Last Year

School costs in Orange county for the fiscal year 1935-36 will be more than $100,000 under the actual expenditures for the fiscal year just ending, according to a report released today by County Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson. This reduction in operating costs was made, he said, in spite of heavy demands for maintenance and replacement of equipment.

Proposed expenditures for all elementary schools, the 12 high schools and two junior colleges will total $3,635,534.45, the budgets reveal. Actual expenditures last year amounted to $3,749,857.80.

The 43 elementary school districts in the county are requesting a total budget of $1,725,390.45 of which $938,165 will be expended for teachers' salaries. Last year actual expenditures in the elementary schools amounted to $1,739,948.93.

High School Budgets
The 12 high schools this year are requesting a total budget of $1,564,294 as compared to the $1,670,990.40 actually expended last year. Of the amount requested for 1935-36, a total of (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

OUTLINE PWA POLICY

County Men See Bright
Hopes for Flood
Control Work

The chance for the Orange county water program to get federal aid was regarded as definitely stronger today as a result of a statement of the position of the man who will pass final judgment on public works applications before they go to Washington.

Halbert P. Gardner, chairman of the national resources board for the five western states, whose approval will be necessary before applications go to Washington, told a local group that he will support any project which is of a worthwhile nature and has permanent value. He will not support the other kind.

News Encouraging
Since Orange county's program already has been regarded with favor in Washington, this news is interpreted here as being of an encouraging nature.

Mr. Gardner's statement was made at a dinner in the Vista del Arroyo hotel at Pasadena, at which Orange county was represented by Chairman John Mitchell, LeRoy Lyon and N. E. West of the board of supervisors, County Assessor James Sleeper and Murray N. Thompson, flood control engineer.

The Orange county project is now at the PWA headquarters for the state, at San Francisco. If it is approved by that body, it then is expected to go to Mr. Gardner. His announcement of policy is regarded as an indication that the local program should have no difficulty in getting to Washington.

Fatal accidents in

Fatal accidents this

Dense fog, one of the first of its kind this summer, which covered the southern part of Orange county last night, was responsible for an automobile accident involving three cars on South Main street 300 feet south of Dyer road, and resulting in the death of Burton L. Pratt, 21, of 111 Cypress street, Santa Ana.

Mr. Pratt was a passenger in a car driven by Frankie S. Pyatt, 21, of 425 West Washington avenue, Santa Ana. Blinded by the fog, Mr. Pyatt drove his car into the rear of a machine operated by C. J. Nelson, 35, of the Western Auto Supply company, Anaheim. Mr. Nelson's machine was knocked nearly 30 feet into a third machine driven by Roch Bradshaw, 34, of 1147 South Parton street, Santa Ana. Mr. Pyatt's car turned over, and he and Mr. Pratt were pinned under the wreckage. All three cars were going toward Santa Ana.

Mr. Pyatt, Mr. Pratt and Mrs. Gladys Nelson, 34, of Anaheim, were taken to St. Joseph's hospital in the Winbiger ambulance, and Mr. Pratt was pronounced dead soon after arrival at the hospital. The body has been removed to the Winbiger mortuary where an inquest is pending.

Mr. Pratt is survived by his father, Ralph L. Pratt; his mother, Mrs. Neile Baker of Martinez, Calif.; two brothers, Kimball and Louis Pratt, and a sister, Mrs. Pauline Davis, all of Santa Ana. He had been a resident of Santa Ana 10 years, employed as a mechanic and auto painter.

Beer, Crabs With Shells
Put 'Champ' on Milk Diet

BALTIMORE, Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—Emil Cella, Baltimore's leading claimant to the beer-drinking championship of the United States, gloomily contemplated the ceiling of a hospital room today, flat on his back, and dedicated—by physicians' orders—to a diet of milk.

Cella, who Monday night guzzled a half gallon of beer in 27 seconds, breaking a world record of 32 seconds, was deposited in Johns Hopkins hospital with a broken blood vessel in his stomach and a "scratched esophagus."

His "training period," physicians said, prior to the championship performance Monday, brought on the broken blood vessel. Consumption of hardshell crabs, from which Cella injudiciously neglected to remove the shells, was responsible for the throat lacerations, they believed.

Today; Guardsmen
Remain in City

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—Street cars and business rolled through Terre Haute streets today carrying factory workers and store employees to work once more.

Heeding the request of leaders, 22,000 members of various labor unions terminated a two-day general strike on "labor holiday."

Unexpectedly last night, T. N. Taylor, former State Federation of Labor president, announced that officials of a stamping mill union, whose controversy with employers precipitated the general strike, had decided to request fellow unionists to end their "holiday."

Erig-Gen. D. Wray de Prez, commanding 1100 Indiana national guardsmen sent here by Governor Paul V. McNutt, said he would confer with city and county authorities concerning the advisability of returning the troops to their home cities.

The Terre Haute Star, a morning newspaper, resumed publication this morning. Its publishers decided to "delay" publication yesterday "in the interest of peace and tranquility."

A day of outbreaks yesterday at the plant of the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company, whose striking union workers were joined in "labor holiday" by members of 40 other crafts, ended with more than 150 persons under arrest by the military forces.

Roberto Garcia, former mayor of Matamoros, chosen as their representative by the peasants, said he had sent a "final ultimatum" to Mayor Rafael Munguia to vacate by 4 o'clock.

He said people living in the vicinity of the city hall have been advised to get out of their houses, in anticipation of firing in the vicinity. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

CONFERENCE STRUGGLE, FIGHT IN HOUSE, LOOM FOR AAA BILL

MODIFICATION OPPOSED BY LEADERS

Provisions Eliminated by Senate May Start Controversy

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—Finally passed by the senate with many modifications, the AAA amendment bill designated to broaden the Roosevelt crop control program and protect it against certain legal attacks, headed today toward a new struggle in conference.

There were indications that the house, which previously had passed the bill, would fight for some provisions eliminated by the senate before it approved the measure, 84 to 15, yesterday.

Chairman Jones (D., Tex.) of the house agriculture committee is eager for the return of the house provision to permit the use of 30 per cent of the nation's customs receipts to finance the disposal of exportable surpluses abroad.

Two Weeks of Debate
Final senate action came after the defeat of an effort to include in the bill a provision to limit the power of the president to negotiate trade agreements.

It required two weeks of debate, often furious, to wade through the legislation which had two principal aims—to give the agriculture department new means in its effort to increase farm prices, and to prepare the broad program for the time when the supreme court will pass upon its constitutionality.

Bearing in mind a circuit court decision unfavorable to the processing tax provisions, the senate validated the rates already imposed by the secretary of agriculture. All benefit contracts under which farmers have been paid about $700,000,000 also were legalized.

Export Subsidy Issue
Indication was given of the coming conference fight when the senate yesterday refused to reconsider its action in rejecting the export subsidy section.

Another matter for the conference to consider is the senate provision permitting processors, under certain conditions, to bring suits to recover processing taxes paid to the government. The AAA had sought to bar all such suits.

MORE FUNDS TO FIGHT DISEASES ASSURED
WASHINGTON, Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—The senate and house were agreed today that additional funds should be spent to eradicate cattle diseases, but the amount must be settled in a conference over the agricultural adjustment bill.

An amendment to the AAA measure calling for a $40,000,000 appropriation was added yesterday at the insistence of Senator LaFollette (P., Wis.). It would give the agriculture department the sum to continue its fight against Bang's disease and tuberculosis in beef and dairy cattle.

VOTE ON CHAIN TAX NEARING

SAN FRANCISCO, Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—Petitions seeking a referendum on the new chain store tax law were ready for the printers today.

Titles for the petitions were issued yesterday by Attorney General U. S. Webb and this action was acclaimed by foes of the law as a tacit expression of opinion that the measure is a licensing arrangement and not a general revenue law, referendum on which is forbidden by the constitution.

The petitions are expected to be placed in circulation not later than Thursday in San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Fresno, San Joaquin, Sacramento, Contra Costa, Santa Clara, Alameda and Sonoma counties.

The mayor reiterated his statement of last night, that he could not legally turn over the city administration unless a majority of the citizens of Matamoros requested it.

FEDERALS HALT RIOTS AS GOVERNOR OUSTED

MEXICO CITY, Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—The federal government stepped firmly today into a peasant uprising which caused the apparent downfall of Tomas Garrido Canabal, dictator of the state of Tabasco, and threatened to overthrow the governor of the state of Tamaulipas.

President Lázaro Cardenas directed the removal of Garrido's governor, Miguel Lastra, and replaced a military commander friendly to Garrido by one known to be loyal to the federal government.

Tabasco went under semi-military control.
Leader to Quit
In a sudden turn of the political wheel of fortune, Garrido was reported reliably to be preparing to go into exile abroad and to abandon the southern gulf coast state in which his socialist program prevailed for eight years.

The new Tabasco military commander, General Miguel Henriquez, announced that steps had been taken to prevent further political agitation in the state and that order was being maintained by federal forces.

General Aureo Calles—No relation to General Plutarco Elias Calles, former president and "iron man" against whose followers the uprisings were considered directed—was named substitute governor by the federal congress.

Governor Is Target
In Tamaulipas, Governor Rafael Villarreal, long unpopular with the peasants, was the target of a popular uprising which was sweeping nearly the entire state from Nuevo Laredo and Matamoros on the Texas border to Tampico in the south.

Informed circles here said that even if the Agrarian movement, also aimed at municipal authorities throughout the state, fails to develop further, the days of Villarreal as governor were evidently numbered.

Silvano Barba Gonzales, secretary of interior, flew to the Tamaulipas state capital, Ciudad Victoria, to investigate what Cardenas's secretary described as a "serious situation." It was predicted that on his return, the permanent commission of congress might take action similar to that in Tabasco.

He Won't Resign
Dr. Villarreal insisted he would not resign, but lacking the support of federal authorities he was not conceded much chance of resisting successfully any move to depose him.

Officials of 22 municipalities were known to have been forced to abandon their offices. Fourteen others withdrew their recognition of Villarreal as governor.

Capital students organized a monster demonstration in celebration of the steps against Garrido.

who was secretary of agriculture until six months ago.

Garrido's sponsorship of the radical red shirt movement and the anti-church campaign had caused some newspapers to designate him as the "most hated man in Mexico."

A group of students entered the state recently to oppose him. Four of them died under machine gun fire 10 days ago at Villa Hermosa.

41 MILLIONS TO HELP 2 STATES

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—California and Arizona, it was disclosed today, will obtain the lion's share of the $61,900,000 allotment for Western reclamation projects recommended to President Roosevelt by the works allotment board.

In addition to $20,000,000 for the Central Valley project, $15,000,000 will be spent in California on the All-American canal. Arizona's portion includes $6,500,000 for two projects.

Reclamation officials have yet to reveal how the remainder of the $61,900,000 will be divided among the other Western states.

be instructed in operation of the various instruments and will keep the records. Among the instruction are wind direction indicators, a wind velocity meter, rain gauge, barograph or recording barometer, thermograph or recording thermometer, maximum and minimum temperature thermometers, and a psychrometer which will make it possible to predict frosts.

The psychrometer is of particular importance to Santa Ana and Orange county because in the future, frost warnings will be available to orchardists in this district from a station located in Orange county, rather than some station located in a section where the weather conditions are not always comparable with those here.

May Have Sun Gauge
It is possible, Mr. Russell said, that a sunshine duration gauge may be included. He is working on such an instrument at present, and if it proves successful it will be placed in the meteorological station.

Observations will be made each day, and records will be available to the public, it was said. The records and the station itself will be used for instruction in junior college classes, Mr. Russell said.

The department of agriculture says the tent caterpillar rarely causes permanent injury to plants.

EXEMPTION OF PENSIONS IS OPPOSED

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—With the house and senate at odds over the amendment, President Roosevelt today expressed opposition to the Clark amendment to the social security bill exempting private security systems from the proposed national plan.

With the house about to vote on the amendment of Senator Clark (D., Mo.), the president said he believed that all corporations should be put in the same class.

He feared the human temptation under the Clark proposal would be for private companies to load their old people on government funds and simply retain the young.

Senate and house conferees have been unable to agree on this one proposal.

In this connection, the president said at his regular press conference that he has not yet found a real labor pension bill that would get supreme court approval.

WRECKED SHIPS REACH HARBOR

SAN FRANCISCO, Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—With a hole nearly 20 feet deep gaping amidships in her starboard side, the intercoastal freighter Calmar was towed today by the coast guard cutter Shawnee and two tugs.

Behind her, limping along under her own steam, came the Japanese freighter Koryu Maru, which collided with the Calmar in a dense fog 20 miles off the Golden Gate last night.

The Koryu Maru appeared badly stove in about the bow, but the full extent of the damage to either vessel could not be learned immediately.

water conservation. They explained, said Mr. Thompson, that Orange county has showed its good faith and willingness to help itself by already expending approximately $300,000 on preliminary work to prepare the way for construction of water conservation works.

Mr. Gardner made no comments on the local plan, Mr. Thompson said. The meeting was informal and not designed to bring about any definite commitments.

It was said by Mr. Thompson today that Mr. Gardner will act on applications after all other western agencies have acted and that he will advise Secretary of the Interior Ickes directly of his views on applications. Mr. Ickes is in charge of PWA construction work.

COURT BRIEFS
Relief under the recently approved mortgage moratorium act is sought in a petition filed in the superior court by William A. Mayer, asking postponement of a mortgage foreclosure sale on the grounds that arrangements are now being made to refinance the mortgage by January 1, 1936.

According to Mr. Mayer's petition he mortgaged his 10-acre ranch near Anaheim to Henry Schindler March 17, 1930, to secure a promissory note for $8500. The note was declared in default June 27, 1935.

Collection of $5348.12 allegedly past due is sought in two suits started in superior court by the First National Bank of Santa Ana. Both suits name T. P. Kingery as defendant, but in one his wife, include Gov. Frank F. Merriam as a co-defendant and in the other R. H. Hall is named.

In the suit against Mr. and Mrs. Kingery the bank alleges they borrowed $3,249.50 on a promissory note and deposited several diamonds as collateral. The note was due October 27, 1931, and February 9, last, the jewelry was sold for a total of $325 which was credited on the obligation, leaving a balance of $2924.59 for which judgment is sought.

In the second suit it is alleged Mr. Kingery and Mr. Hall borrowed $2423.53 October 27, 1930, and that nothing has been paid on either the principal or interest.

The $30,000 damage suit of Paul McCoy against the Life Savers, Inc., was thrown out of court yesterday when Judge Arthur L. Mundo, in department 1, superior court, granted a non-suit on motion of attorneys for the defendant company.

Testifying on his own behalf, Mr. McCoy told the court his back was broken when he stopped his automobile along the highway near San Clemente to pick up a woman hitch-hiker. An automobile, owned by Life Savers, Inc., is alleged to have crashed into the rear of McCoy's parked automobile.

ALONE IN CITY AFTER NEAR TRAGEDY

Eleven-year-old Thomas McCue, son of Neil McCue of Chicago, who assertedly almost plunged a transcontinental bus and 24 persons into the water of Donner Lake, Calif., vainly hunted by telephone for his grandmother in San Francisco. The boy came on alone after his father had been taken off the bus, but the address he had for his grandmother proved incorrect and he did not know her first name. The Travelers Aid, however, took care of him and lodged him in the juvenile detention home while trying to find his proper destination. (Associated Press Photo)

ORANGE GROWER HERE BETTER OFF THAN FLORIDAN

It costs twice as much to care for an acre of oranges in Orange county, California, as it does in Orange county, Florida, but the local grower's net returns are almost twice as large per acre as they are in the Florida county.

Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg today made public a comparison of production costs and returns for the two areas. The total cost of production per acre in Florida is $66.24 per acre, while in California it is $126.74. The total return per acre here, however, is $216.62, while in Florida it is $112.62. Net returns per acre here for interest and grower's supervision are $89.88 compared to $46.38 in Florida.

The figures represent costs and returns on 37 Florida and 56 California orchards more than 10 years old in the 1932-33 season.

Santa Ana Journal's Next Serial READY MADE WIFE

—BY CORALIE STANTON—

BUSINESS efficiency and emotional appeal—Mark Albery saw them perfectly combined in Laurie Moore, his attractive secretary. Surrounded by "yes" men, he admired this girl with a mind of her own, the courage to back her own judgment even when it clashed with his. He liked that especially in her.

But there was more than admiration for her business sense in Albery's mind when he looked at Laurie.... Only one thing, he reasoned, accounted for her reserve, kept her unattainable. How could he erase the tragic memory of Rex Moore, lost in an ocean flight sponsored by Albery's plane factory, where Laurie now worked?

You'll like "Ready Made Wife," Coralie Stanton's new serial.

MANY ACTIVITIES PLANNED BY NEWPORT YACHTSMEN IN AUGUST

COUNTY DAY SLATED AT BEACH

Regatta at San Diego to Lure Hundreds from Harbor District

NEWPORT BEACH.—Yachtsmen of the Newport area are facing a busy time with their boats during the coming month. Boats are being put into shape for two great events, with local sailors planning to compete in the annual sailing of the Southern California Yachting Association regatta at San Diego August 3 to 9 and then in the International Star boat races here, August 23 to 28.

Scores of yachtsmen and ship owners will go to San Diego to enter the regatta there, it was announced today by M. S. "Robby" Robinson, editor of the Pacific Skipper, local yachting magazine. Nearly 400 ships are expected to enter.

Racing Classes Given
Special trophies will be awarded to winners of the various power and sail boat races from San Francisco, Santa Barbara, Long Beach and Newport Beach to San Diego. In the Southern port races will be held for the following classes: Star boat, Pacific class, six meter, eight meter, "R" class, all cruising classes, and the 45-foot sailing association fleet.

The regatta for smaller ships will be held in Glorietta Bay, Coronado Island for these classes: Starletta, Rainbow and Patricia skimmers and Snowbirds.

Orange County day during the International Star boat races is being worked out by the recreational committee of the chamber of commerce, under Chairman M. S. Robinson. Tuesday, August 27, has been set aside. During each of the days of the races, harbor district organizations will entertain the visiting yachtsmen and their families.

Dinner Dance Slated
A dinner dance at the Balboa Yacht club Friday night, August 23, will officially open the race series. Saturday yachtsmen will be the guests of the Newport Harbor Yacht club at a dinner and party. The California Yacht club, Long Beach Yacht club, and the Long Beach Star fleet will be joint hosts at a gala reception Sunday in the California Yacht club quarters in Wilmington.

Monday will be a day of rest, followed by Orange County day on Tuesday. The local chamber of commerce will handle the final day's celebration by awarding the prizes to the winners. Daily prizes will also be given.

Congress At Work
By the Associated Press
SENATE: Takes up omnibus banking bill; lobby investigators question John W. Carmichael of the Texas Power and Light company.
HOUSE: Debates liquor control bill; military committee renews investigation of war department business.

Menus of the Day
By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Winning Omelette
The wise housekeeper finds that careful planning and shopping are the secrets for keeping her family and herself comfortable during the hot weather. She uses the ovens twice weekly for preparing foods to be used the remainder of week. Cakes, cookies, pies, breads, meat and fish loaves, roasts and baked beans can be baked and stored carefully for future use.

Even canning and preserving can be done in the oven and it requires little attention, merely an occasional stirring.

The daily food preparations should take place early in the morning and selections should be those foods easily digested and "cooling." One hot food a meal is advised even for warm weather but this food can consist of soup, stew, vegetables or hot beverage.

The ideal summer desserts consist of fresh fruits, berries or melons and these are easily prepared. Of course frozen foods win favor too and they can be quickly made from chilled fruit juices stored in refrigerator.

Canned fruits, vegetables, meats, fish and soups are labor savers and should be used extensively.

Summer Dinner Menu
Corn Beef, Cold Lemon Quarters Creamed Potatoes and Peas Bread Grape Jelly Sliced Cucumbers, Well Seasoned Fresh Peaches Cream Fruit Cookies
(Milk for children daily)
Summer Beverage Favorite
Mint Chocolate, Ice
2 cups cocoa 2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups sugar 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon salt 1 pint vanilla
2 cups water 1 pint vanilla
4 cups milk 1 pint vanilla
Blend cocoa, sugar, salt and water. Boil until thick and creamy. Stir constantly. Add milk and cook until mixture boils. Cool, beat well and add vanilla and peppermint. Pour into tall glasses 1/2 filled with chopped ice, top with ice cream and serve.

England Lays Claim Now to Fattest Child

By the Associated Press
There's a new international complication of major proportions which no man has the fattest boy, England or the United States.
Today, England was tops. Leslie Bowles, three years and four months, put on 14 more pounds the past month and now tips the scales at 142 pounds. This brought dismay to the folks in Gloucester, Mass. Their own Joe Randazza Jr., three years and six months, lost the lead. His weight now totals only 135 pounds.

MEET THE WIFE

Mrs. Stanley Baldwin

Mrs. Stanley Baldwin, wife of the prime minister of Great Britain, is as typically the helpmate as her husband is thoroughly English. He likes roast beef and Yorkshire pudding and she gives it to him regularly. But she limits his indulgence in his favorite jam pudding—says it makes her already chunky husband fat. She is politically minded and helps the Honorable Mr. Baldwin retain his place in the world of politics. Once she gave a party for charwomen at 10 Downing street, the official residence of the prime minister. Mrs. Baldwin was born Lucy Risdale. Her mother used to call her a "hoyden" and related that Lucy as a girl preferred playing cricket with the boys on the village green to sedate "pretend" games with other girls.

By FRANK ROGERS

Tid-bits from the middle of a busy sports week:

NEW STAR HURLER STILL QUESTION MARK

Joe Hurst, who was signed this week to help Jimmy Coates over the big hump of the second half in the National Night Ball league, is still an unknown quantity so far as his potentialities for the local circuit are concerned. Last night Hurst took the hill for the first four innings and while he pitched four runs—on only about four hits—he didn't have toponotch support and seemed to be struggling to find himself.

Hurst, an El Centro chucker, is accustomed to tossing a 12-inch ball from a 37-foot pitching box. Here he must heave a 13½-inch sphere from but 35 feet. Last night, we are told, was his first performance under these conditions. He had a punch in his delivery and may find his stuff with a little more drilling.

'WORLD'S CHAMPION' GRAPPLER COMING

Astute Sam Sampson has a good one up his sleeve for the wrestling fans next Monday night.

Tonight Man Mountain Dean and Vincent Lopez battle in the Lou Daro international wrestling tournament. Daro and some of his boys will recognize the winner as the new world's champ, although a young guy by the name of Danno O'Mahoney will have something to say about it.

In any event, champ or no champ, Sampson has arranged for the winner of the colossal match to battle some good heavyweight in the local arena. Along with a pack of other fans we think you to put on the spot is Dirty Ernie Dusek, the Omaha ogre. Lopez will likely defeat Dean and if he could be matched with Dusek customers would see the grandest slugging bee in history. Both boys excel in this department.

EVERYBODY'S DOING IT, IT SEEMS

Add good comebacks in a spectacular year. Chicago's Charley Root, onetime ace moundman, Root, after shuffling along for most of the season, has suddenly snapped out of it. His record shows he has won seven, lost five and is the strength of the White Sox. Last year, when he won only four games and had an earned run average of 4.27, they thought him through.

GOOD MAN DOESN'T WANT TO STAY DOWN

The old fable about never keeping a good man down never was more applicable than to one "Doc" Steffler, Sam Sampson's own matchmaker for the weekly box-fight attractions. With a deep-rooted love for the game Doc plugs away week after week doing a swell job of lining up amateurs to amuse the fans. Wrestling's all right, he'll tell you, and he has no grudge against it, but he honestly believes boxing is the better and sportier pastime of the two and is out to beat the wrestling.

MAYBE THIS WILL HELP THE GAME

Wonder if baseball, while not as bad off as many would have you believe, is not keeping itself too undemocratic? We mean undemocratic in the view toward allowing foreigners to play.

The "color line" of the old era has gone. Fans and athletes alike cheer the really good performer, no matter what his race. Yet baseball, many times when sensational material is to be had, keeps the bars strictly up against Mexicans and Negroes.

Not only does this practice rob the ticket office of patronage by those who would follow some star of their own nationality, but it cheats the game of some real players.

Just as Jesse Owens, Ralph Metcalfe, Joe Louis, Eulace Peacock and others have become standouts in their line, so would some of the colored boys be headlines in the best baseball teams.

Many consider Satchel Paige the greatest present day hurler but baseball's silly rule keeps him out of all but the so-called semi-pro winter league games.

With Paige the sensation he really is, you can't make this typist believe that he wouldn't draw cash and customers to the ball park some of these vacant afternoons.

Ours is not the first voice to be raised in appreciation of this condition—and others will follow. Sooner or later the Boys Who Run Things at baseball parks are going to realize that to Americans supremacy in athletics comes first, race prejudice second.

One Way to Do It

BILL TERRY of the Giants recently suffered his first hitless afternoon in 10 days—and really suffered! He came to bat five times with a total of 10 baserunners occupying the sacks, but all he could do was drive in one run—and he did that by hitting into a double play with the bases loaded!

Clarence Bolton To Report For Don Football

Clarence Bolton, 190-pounder who stands well over six feet, will report for football at Santa Ana Junior college when Coach Bill Cook of the Dons sounds his call for candidates Sept. 3.

An end from Santa Ana high school's championship eleven, the rangy Bolton wants to play a blocking half position for the Dons, but Cook probably will keep him at a wing position, where he is short of returning material.

The junior college's quartet of fine ends—Frank Kroener, Ben Slavin, Walt Gunther and Paul Perinich—will not be back, but Cook hopes to land Jack Wilson, former Los Angeles prep who now lives in Garden Grove.

NEW YORKERS KEEP LEADS IN MAJORS

Dizzy Dean Faces Carl Hubbell Today as Cards Seek to Pass Giants

By ANDY CLARKE

Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York teams grimly held their half-game leads today as the St. Louis Cardinals and the Detroit Tigers sought to tear them from the plan.

The well laid plan of Mickey Cochrane went astray as his ace moundman, Schoolboy Rowe, failed to turn in the victory that would have shot the battling Tigers into the lead.

Rowe lost the first game to the Yankees 7-5 as Mickey belted a homer, but Vic Sorrell evened matters in the second, holding the Yankees to eight hits as the Tigers won 3-1.

Allen, Gomez Chased Rowe wasn't the only star pitcher to meet defeat. Johnny Allen and Lefty Gomez of the Yankees took early showers, although Allen got credit for winning a swing play of lining up amateurs to amuse the fans.

The Giants lost the first game of their doubleheader with the Cards 6-1, and took the second 8-2. Paul Dean allowed four hits and fanned 12 as Joe Medwick hit two for the circuit in the first.

Pepper Hartley's three errors figured heavily in the Giants' victory in the nightcap. It was the sixth straight defeat for the Giants, who seemed a cinch for the pennant not long ago.

ST. LOUIS, Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—Make or break today as Dizzy Dean and Carl Hubbell were nominated for mound duty in the "little world series" between the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants.

With a half game separating the league-leading Giants and the onrushing Cardinals, the team that wins today is almost certain to end the series on top. It would take a sweep of tomorrow's double-header by the trailing team to dislodge today's winner from the lead.

Dean and Hubbell have been having their troubles this year, with neither finding the gold as easy as he did in 1934, but as easy as a heavy and each is a "money player" who arises to the occasion. The prospect is for one of those "battles of the century."

The two-for-one bargain was able to do it yesterday, when, despite threatening weather, 26,000 cash customers were on hand for the week-day game.

They saw Paul Dean put the Cardinals out in front briefly by winning the first game, 6 to 1, but the Cards lost the nightcap 8 to 2.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By the Associated Press

PAUL DEAN and JOE MEDWICK, Cardinals, and AL SMITH, Giants—Dean held Giants to four hits and fanning two homers in six hits, in crowd 12, Medwick got doubleheader, and Smith held Cards to eight hits in nightcap.

FRANK DEMAREE and GABBY HARTNETT, Cubs—Doubler got two singles and double for perfect day at bat in first, and latter got two doubles and single in second game with Dodgers.

WALLY BERGER, Braves—Hit two home runs, last in 12th, to beat Reds.

LOU GEHRIG, Yankees, and VIC SORRELL, Tigers—Gehrig's homer accounted for two runs in opener; Sorrell held Yanks to one run in nightcap.

JULIUS SOLTERS, Browns—Led attack on Red Sox with two doubles and two singles.

JOHNNY MARCUM, Athletics—Held White Sox at bay with eight hits.

BUDGE DOWNS BARON FOR FINAL WIN

Challenge Rounds Will Start Saturday; Don Budge Plays Baron

WIMBLEDON, Eng., Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—A straight set victory by Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., over Heiner Henkel of Germany, enabled the United States to eliminate Germany today from the Davis cup tennis competition and qualified America to meet Great Britain in the challenge round starting Saturday.

Red-headed Don Budge of Oakland, Calif., scored his second victory of the international competition by overpowering the talented Baron Gottfried Von Cramm in four sets, 6-6, 9-7, 8-6, 6-3.

Budge's victory atoned for the defeat he suffered at the hands of the bounding Baron in the semi-final round of the all-England and virtually assured the Pacific Coast youngster a berth on the team starting against England in the challenge round Saturday.

The veteran Texan, who lost nine pounds in participating in a gruelling, uphill doubles victory over the Teutons yesterday, accounted for the young German by the score of 6-1, 7-5, 11-9 and clinched the inter-zone final series by a score of 3-1.

MRS. VAN RYN WINS SEABRIGHT, N. J., Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—Mrs. Sarah Paifrey Fabyan of Brookline, Mass., second only to Helen Jacobs in the national women's tennis ranking, was beaten by Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn of Philadelphia, wife of the Davis cup doubles player in the quarter-finals of the Seabright invitation tournament today, 6-3, 6-2.

Germany's downfall was started last Saturday by young Don Budge of Oakland, Cal., with a four-set victory over Henkel. Allison lost to Baron Gottfried von Cramm in three sets on Monday and then the Texan joined forces with Johnny Van Ryn of Philadelphia yesterday to take the measure of Von Cramm and the towering Kay Lund in doubles.

The American team's victory today makes it the sixth time the United States has qualified for the challenge round since losing the cup to France in 1927.

Non-playing Capt. Joseph Wear of Philadelphia was the happiest of the American contingent over the victory but declined to say whether he will depend on the same lineup in the challenge round against Fred Perry, "Bunny" and Sidney Wood Jr., of New York, regarded by many in the United States as Uncle Sam's ablest amateur singles player, viewed the series with Germany from the sidelines. It has been unofficially reported that Wear plans to use him against England.

FISHING EXCELLENT IN SIERRA STREAMS

Warm, clearing weather throughout the high sierras has made a marked improvement in fishing conditions. Passes into the higher elevations are all open.

Fishing has been excellent at Shotgun Lake. Little Five Lakes basin is good. Streams now producing well are South Fork Kaweah, Whitman, Coyote, Cliff and Rattlesnake creeks. Kern river is fair. Streams are high and clear, according to a report prepared by the outing bureau of the Southern California automobile club.

Anglers are having luck in Mammoth Lakes trolling with large spinners or still-fishing with worms and eggs.

Weather Is Ideal

A report from Glacier lodge, Big Pines, states lake fishing is good, streams fair, weather ideal. Fishing is exceptionally good in the upper basin lakes at Rock Creek lodge.

June Lake area is still good with fine catches from June, Silver and Grant lakes; and the Lower Owens river fishing has improved.

Comedian Dares Man Mountain to Wresle Him

LOS ANGELES, Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—Nat Pendleton, movie comedian and former national intercollegiate wrestling champion, today openly dared Man Mountain Dean to meet him on the mat.

Declaring he wanted to teach Man Mountain "a lesson" for his grappling methods, Pendleton inserted a display advertisement in newspapers here. It read:

"One thousand dollars reward—To anyone securing for me a finish match with Man Mountain Dean, formerly Frank Leavitt of Brooklyn, referee and conditions to be mutually acceptable.

"I will donate an additional $1000 to the motion picture relief fund if I fail to throw him 10 times in one hour."

Pendleton challenged Dean a year ago, and it went unaccepted. Recently he repeated the invitation to Dean personally, and again it was not accepted.

LOPEZ MEETS DEAN FOR 'TITLE'

LOS ANGELES, Wednesday, July 24. (AP)—A new heavyweight wrestling champion of the world in California, anyhow—will be crowned here tonight.

The alleged title lies between the mighty Man Mountain Dean, 317-pound Georgia hillbilly who the sidewalks of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Vincent Lopez, the Idaho Mexican.

The two emerged as finalists in a so-called international championship tournament which has been playing here for months and in which some 58 of the nation's leading mat troupers appeared from time to time. The cash customers, incidentally, are still hazy about the methods and processes of elimination involved.

Chairman Harry Martin and the California state athletic commission brushed aside all titular claims of Danno O'Mahoney, the Boston Irishman, and pronounced tonight's Dean-Lopez affair the real thing. No other championship, however, particularly in New York or Massachusetts bodies, which recently declared O'Mahoney the world's champion, has placed the same confidence in the local grappling match.

JINX HANGS ON LOS ANGELES

(By the Associated Press)

Frank Shellenback shoved the skidding Los Angeles baseball club a notch closer to the Pacific Coast league cellar as he pitched and batted out his thirteenth win of the season for Hollywood 6 to 5.

The Stars' pitching manager, jerked himself in the ninth last night when the Angels began to hit him all over the lot, but he was credited with the victory. The veteran spitballer accounted for his club's winning margin when he poked out a homer in the third.

Redmen Win

Seattle was forced to turn on the heat as they won from Sacramento 7 to 6 with a driving finish, in an overtime game. Coming from behind with a three-run rally in the ninth, the tribe knocked the score. Jerry Donnot opened the scoring with a double and scored from second on Bill Lawrence's single to bring in the winning run.

Jake Wade, Portland southpaw, had his fireball working nicely as he baffled Oakland to win, 6 to 1. The lanky portlander issued nine passes and nine hits but he never allowed more than two hits in an inning and he was given perfect support.

Gibson Wins Again "Sad" Sam Gibson, leading Coast league hurler, and Walter Beck battled nine innings in one of the tightest pitching duels of the season, as San Francisco beat the Missions, 2 to 1, and held on to first place. Gibson, veteran of many a Coast league campaign, came to the plate in the ninth, with the score tied at one all, and bunted to score Hal Rhyne from third. Roy Mort, Mission first baseman, who handled Gibson's bunt, threw to second instead of home.

Joe Di Maggio's consecutive hitting streak was halted at 27 games. He was at bat four times but failed to hit.

STARS UPSET BY ANAHEIM SQUAD, 6-1

Crippled Champs Drop Second Game of Last Half at Bowl Here

Aided by a few pats by Lady Luck, Anaheim's Valencia's surprised Santa Ana's Stars here last night, upsetting the first half champions 6-1 for the local nine's second upset since the half way mark was past. Friday the Stars fell before Huntington Beach 4-1.

Fourth place in the first half play and a tagging fifth until last night's game, Anaheim played rather good ball to defeat Tom Denney's crippled squad. Both Francis Conrad, star shortstop, and Doc Smith, stellar second sacker, were out of the lineup last night and the shuffling of players to new spots resulted in five errors that helped the invaders along. Conrad was hurt badly a few games ago and Smith was called away yesterday by the death of his father.

Hurst Starts Game Manager Denney started his new pitching boy, Joe Hurst, but the newcomer found it hard to hit his stride and went out when Jimmy Coates, regular moundman, went in to hit for him in the fourth. Hurst appeared to have poise, but lacked deception although his brief session on the rubber was not sufficient to measure him by.

Coates proved definitely that the team needs his hitting even if he isn't on the mound when he poked out a sharp single to pace the way for the Stars' lone rally. Denney had rifled a single through second base when Coates cut loose with a duplicate. One wild pitch and close infield play sent Denney in.

Trailing 4-1 when he took the mound Coates stopped the invaders for all but one inning when Dame Luck strode into the picture. Comstock beat out an infield bouncer on a close play in the sixth. Wiseman landed on the first and Arroues cut loose with his second in the evening—a triple down the first base line that was inside by a split hair. Both Comstock and Wiseman scored.

Three brief but feverish attempts by the Stars to rally were nipped—two by batters popped out with men on and one when First-baseman Coates came up with a fast stop of Daley's screamer in the seventh.

SEALS SLUGGER HAS HIS 'DAY'

In the midst of a hitting and fielding streak which made the New York Yankees glad they will own him next season, young Joe Di Maggio, San Francisco Seals outfielder, was honored by friends during a Pacific Coast league doubleheader. ## OILERS TRIM FLYERS 6-1; L. B. LOSES IN 13TH, 4-3

Thirteen innings of nip-and-tuck warfare resulted in a 4-3 decision for Olive over Long Beach last night in as thrilling a game as the National Night Ball league has seen this season. One hundred and 14 batters came to the plate in the extra-inning struggle at Orange's new city park.

Wilbur Stinchfield, worn out after chucking the best ball of his career, walked Erwin Foltz with the bases loaded in the last of the thirteenth to turn the tide in favor of Olive.

The Admirals, forfeiting early scoring chances, gained the lead 2-1, in the eighth, when Cliff Edmundson lined a homer into left-center with Bob Guy aboard. They relinquished it on Olive's two runs in the eighth, but tied the count with two away in the ninth, when Brooks Sackett, pinch-hitter, rapped a lightning grounder past third to score Pete Osborn.

Bruce Harnois of Olive and Pete Osborn of Long Beach each collected 5 singles in 7 trials for new season records.

Jack Dugan fanned 17, Stinchfield 13.

Years Of Discord Prod Italy And Ethiopia Along Road To War

Ethiopia's "modern emperor," Haile Selassie I, has introduced scores of reforms in his realm. More important to Italy, however, is the modernization of the army, trained under European officers, with the latest available implements of warfare.

These Ethiopian soldiers of the regular army have been trained for two years under European instructors. Many observers believe that they approach the perfection of soldiers on the continent and their officers, say that what they lack in training, if anything, they make up in enthusiasm. The regular army is under the personal command of the emperor but another large section of Ethiopia's fighting force is made up of the "irregulars," untrained soldiers under the command of the provincial governors and vice regents.

The map shows how Ethiopia is sandwiched between Italy's colonies of Eritrea and Somaliland. Landing at Massaua, the Italian operations have been centered there and at Asmara, from which two broad highways are being built to the Ethiopian border. It is proposed to extend one of these highways and a railroad across Ethiopia to Italian Somaliland if the colonial venture is successful. The proposed roads are shown on the map. The arrows show lines of march which military authorities in Eritrea have indicated will be followed by the Italians toward Addis Ababa.

Across the Mediterranean the stream of Italian soldiers continues. It is believed more than 200,000 will be "in the field" when the rainy season ends, the time set by most observers for operations in what now appears certain—war between Italy and Ethiopia. The picture shows a contingent of Italian soldiers bidding farewell as they leave Italy for Eritrea, principal base of operations in Africa. The men will be under command of General Emilio De Bono, high commissioner of Eritrea and Italian Somaliland.

Mussolini is the leading figure in the international crisis which threatens as result of the Ethiopian operations. Many diplomats have credited Il Duce alone with the "strong decision" to seek a "racial solution" to Italy's African colonial problems.

War and 'Border Incidents' Mark Enmity of Two Nations

The prospect of war between Italy and Ethiopia is worrying governments the world over. This article discusses the background of the expected conflict, and the preparations for it.

By ANDRUE BERDING

ROME, (AP)—The Italo-Ethiopian conflict has been brewing for more than two generations. It has been marked not only by one war and by scores of border battles but by fundamental differences of opinion and intense animosity.

The world did not awake to the strained relations between the two countries until the serious frontier clash of Ualual last December, with its more than 100 dead and

Tri-Power Union Again Shattered

Within a few months the tri-power union reached at Stresa by England, France and Italy has been shattered.

That "Stresa front" now lies in pieces, and many diplomats predict that it will be a long time before it can be reassembled.

Three main causes have contributed to the breakdown of the Anglo-French-Italian communion. They are, in chronological order:

1—Italy's preparation for an Ethiopian expedition. Bad blood thereupon developed between England and Italy. England's opposition to an Italian advance in Abyssinia remaining what it is, and Italy's determination to proceed without swerving, there seems little likelihood their bitterness will sweeten.

2—The Franco-Soviet and Czechoslovakia-Soviet mutual assistance pacts. In Mussolini's own words, these pacts "shifted the equilibrium of forces." They made France less reliant on England and Italy to protect her against Germany. To many Italian editorial writers, it meant virtually the withdrawal of France from the union of Stresa.

3—The Anglo-German naval accord granting Germany a fleet equal to 35 per cent of the British fleet. France and Italy did not at all like the fact that England went ahead on her own and concluded this agreement without bringing them in on it. The sharp tone of the French and Italian notes is sufficient evidence of this fact.

Says La Tribuna of Rome: "Permit us to ask why it was necessary for England to detach herself from the continental solidarity reached with France and Italy at Stresa, in order to conclude this accord which does nothing more than agreeing to what Germany already has demanded."

Mussolini no doubt had these facts in mind when he pleaded in May before the chamber of deputies for the continuance of the Stresa front.

"It is a positive fact," he said, "that with such effective, constant and omnipresent solidarity, political action on a grand style is possible, tending to eliminate the principal obstacles that oppose the pacific living together of European peoples. This solidarity is evermore necessary for the future existence of our continent."

Many diplomats do not believe that the Stresa front will be reconstituted. They maintain that: Mussolini's strong decision to seek a "radical solution" of the Ethiopian problem will keep England against him.

France will cling to the Soviet alliance, owing to England's direct negotiations with Germany in nearly two years.

England will stick by her naval accord with Germany because it removes the danger of a naval armaments race, such as preceded the World war.

And Italy in the meantime is fast making up with Germany. Relations between the two are now better than they have been in nearly two years.

African Venture Italy's Greatest

Italy, the last European country to enter the colonial field, is now on the verge of making her greatest colonial venture, using her oldest colony, Eritrea, as her base of action. She considers herself bound to make it to keep alive her possessions in Eastern Africa.

Italy's colonies there, Eritrea and Somaliland, are not among the most important colonial holdings of the great nations. Their value, moreover, has been rendered even less by the attitude of passive commercial resistance adopted by Ethiopia which deprives them of their hinterland.

To keep the two colonies from dying economically, Italy has need of Abyssinia, either in friendly co-operation, or as a protectorate. Since the first alternative seems impossible for many years to come, Italy is ready to try the second.

Concentration in Eritrea

Eritrea is the smaller of the two colonies, but the more important, and the closer to the motherland, being 3250 miles away as compared with Somaliland's 5000.

It is in this colony that the great majority of Italian soldiers and workmen are being concentrated. Eritrea contains some gold deposits, which are being developed to their utmost, although the average production is only around 50 pounds per month. It also has many possibilities in iron ore. Its principal efforts are coffee and salt, the principal imports cotton cloth and coffee (this later for export).

In 1933 imports were worth approximately $14,620,000, exports about $5,174,000.

Colonization Limited

This colony still uses the Maria Theresa thaler, the silver coin of Ethiopia, in joint circulation with the lira, although several attempts have been made in vain by the colonial authorities to supplant it with Italian currency. The thaler is the sole means of payment in foreign trade.

Eritrea is the only one of the two colonies which offers any possibilities for colonization by white men, and that only in half of the colony, amid the highlands.

The principal port, Massaua, is unhealthy, but the capital, Asmara, at 7000 feet altitude, has a good climate for Europeans. Visitors to this colony say that it is now unrecognizable. Wooden cities reminiscent of the development of the west in the United States have sprung up over night as tens of thousands of soldiers and workmen have poured into the colony. It is a common belief that the workmen and many of the soldiers later, will receive remunerative offers to stay there and in Ethiopia as permanent colonists.

Somaliland Largely Desert

Somaliland is of far greater extent than Eritrea, but owing to its position closer to the equator and to the fact that it is largely desert, it is of less importance commercially. By far the largest production is of bananas, all of which go to Italy. In 1933 close to $1,000,000 worth of bananas were sent to the motherland.

Exports in 1933 were about $2,000,000.

feeding ground. And they cannot prosper by themselves.

Japan Enters Scene

Another cause is the Italian advance to the well-marked present informal boundary between Somaliland and Ethiopia. Italy has had possession of them now for six years, but Haile Selassie maintains they are in his territory. It is along this line that the serious border incidents have occurred. Ualual is one of these important wells.

A third cause is the growing Japanese commercial success in Ethiopia. Italy feels that if she takes no action now her chance will soon be lost forever.

Il Duce Is Massing His Great Forces In Eritrea

Mussolini is taking no chances on failure as he builds up in Eastern Africa the greatest army ever sent to the Dark Continent, surpassing even those of his own heroes, Caesar and Napoleon.

More than 100,000 men have left Italian ports for Eritrea and Somaliland. Another 100,000 are about to follow and be there before the end of August, when it is believed hostilities with Ethiopia will begin.

All military branches except cavalry have been sent out to Africa. The array of military equipment is the most amazing Africa may ever see.

'Flame-Throwers' And Planes

Three hundred airplanes will be ready for service when the word is given. There are scores of tanks, hundreds of trucks, all branches of artillery, but especially mountain guns. There are even 100 "flame-throwers," who carry machines with a hose shooting a stream of fire 50 to 60 feet long.

All told, Italy will have five regular army divisions of 20,000 men each in Eastern Africa; five black shirt volunteer divisions of 12,000 men each; two and probably more native divisions of 20,000 each. And she will have about 40,000 Italian workmen who are military reservists and can be pressed into service.

By far the greatest number of these men are being concentrated in Eritrea. It is from this colony on the Red Sea that military sources say the advance into Ethiopia will be made.

Proposed Advance

They reveal that the expedition is to be composed of two columns, one entering Abyssinia in the traditional way, passing through Adua, to the right on the map, where in 1896 the Ethiopians annihilated an Italian army of 17,000 men; and the other entering farther west at Tessenet. The columns would converge before reaching Addis Ababa.

These sources say that there is to be no advance from Somaliland. Instead the Italians will defend the line of forts they have constructed close to the wells along the disputed Abyssinian-Somaliland frontier. An advance from Somaliland would be more difficult than one from Eritrea, owing to an unhealthy malarial desert to be crossed. And Eritrea, being 1,750 miles closer to Italy, can be more easily furnished with soldiers.

Italian military authorities, in pouring tens of thousands of men into these colonies have been faced with and have overcome tremendous difficulties. One was that of transport, similar in distance to that of the United States in the world war. Eritrea is 3,250 miles from Italy, Somaliland 5,000.

The Health Problem

A second was that of living quarters when the troops arrived in the colonies. Barracks had to be erected and various services, such as commissary, provided for from scratch.

A third was the problem of health. The lowlands of Eritrea and practically all of Somaliland are dangerous for white men. Hundreds of men already have been sent back to Italy suffering from tropical ailments, but a numerous and well organized sanitary corps has kept the percentage of illness to a low figure.

A fourth was the question of water. There was at first a dearth of water. Some was brought out in ships all the way from Italy. Filtering plants had to be erected, distilling plants built to remove the salt from seawater, wells dug and aqueducts constructed.

A fifth was the problem of communications. Hundreds of miles of concrete roads have been constructed. A broad highway from the port of Massaua to Asmara, and from there two highways to the Ethiopian border, will be ready by fall. The height of modernization reached by the preparations is shown by the fact that capable of 0 miles per hour, streamlined motor-driven cars capable of 80 miles an hour now are running on the railroad between Massaua and Asmara.

CITY HOUSING PROBLEM ACUTE AS RENTS JUMP

The housing situation in Santa Ana is becoming more acute daily and with a severe shortage in rental properties rents have already been increased and another raise is expected within 60 days, according to real estate men and women contacted today.

Desirable rental property, they declare, is almost impossible to obtain, and unless something is done the situation will become acute in the fall when schools open.

With a shortage of houses for rent, more interest is being taken in the purchase of property and the building of homes. Building

505,000, imports about $4,857,000. Eritrea is much more developed from an engineering point of view than Somaliland, with railroads, cement roads, aqueducts and other improvements. Its population is somewhat smaller, being 500,000, compared with Somaliland's 960,333.

General Emilio De Bono, former minister of colonies, is high commissioner for both colonies, and commander-in-chief of their armed forces.

There is no denying that the two colonies have cost Italy much more than she has got out of them. But she hopes that through combining them with their natural hinterland, Abyssinia, she can make them into flourishing possessions.

DRIVER BLAMED IN SUIT FOR $52,570

Accusing him of negligence in operation of his automobile, Earl M. Stone has started suit in superior court for $52,570 damages from P. Lee Madrid for injuries sustained in an automobile crash June 7, last, at McClay and Chestnut streets in which M. Stone was so severely injured that he remained unconscious for eight days.

The P.H.A. has started to function efficiently in Orange county, said Mrs. Zilda Oxarant, and for the period ending June 30 it had approved six new construction loans totalling $26,740, and so far this month had approved three more for a total of $23,700 and three refinancing applications for amounts totalling $11,900.

Mrs. Oxarant said that since the Orange county office had started filing applications, 33 requests have been sent in to the Los Angeles office. These requests are for a total of $89,300 to be used in new home construction.

PUBLIC INVITED TO HEAR DEBATE AT LIONS CLUB

Rolla Hays Jr., chairman of the Lions club program committee, today issued an invitation to the public to attend Thursday's club session at which the final round of a debate on the charter form of government for Santa Ana will be staged.

Horace Head, local attorney, will present the negative side of the question, showing why Santa Ana should not have a charter form of government. Joel Ogile, who recently upheld the affirmative, will have a short rebuttal.

The battle of words will take place in James cafe, and Mr. Hays said that the public will be welcome at 12:45 p. m., when the debate will start, following the luncheon.

AGRICULTURE HERE AIDED BY NEW ACT

The position of California agriculture has been materially strengthened by the United States senate's passage of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration bill which carries a provision intended to validate existing crop control contracts.

Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg said today that these provisions should operate as a bulwark against attack upon such contracts through removal of features which have been regarded as constitutional weaknesses in the old AAA measure.

Vital Factor Here
The California-Arizona citrus marketing agreement, built up under the AAA, is the most vital factor as far as this county is concerned, and it is anticipated that this agency will continue to function unchanged. Its position is stronger, however, as a result of the senate's action, Mr. Wahlberg believes.

Under the AAA measure before the change authorized by the senate, the secretary of agriculture issued licenses to marketing agencies, in administering the crop control or prorate agreements. This was regarded as a delegation of legislative power and thus unconstitutional, by some opponents of the system.

To Remove Objection
The changes authorized by the senate are designed to remove this objection through making this act of the secretary of agriculture an executive act.

The California-Arizona agreement is the contract under which citrus fruit from these states is prorated as a means of market control. It has not been attacked by court action as have other contracts, and processing taxes, and is unaffected by court decisions against other phases of the AAA, in the opinion of citrus leaders.

The AAA bill already had been passed by the house of representatives, but now goes back to the house for consideration of senate changes.

TO RE-ADVERTISE FOR BIDS ON GRAVEL SUPPLY

Re-advertising for bids on the contract to supply decomposed granite and gravel for county roads during the next three years was authorized by the board of supervisors yesterday. The re-advertisement was made necessary, board members said, when it was found that an error had been made in the wage scale set up in the original call.

Included in specifications upon which the bids shall be based is a wage scale that must be paid workers by the successful bidder. The old scale, included in former contracts, was adopted without checking and after bids had been advertised it was found that the daily wage of $10 for shovel operators was higher than the going scale. Under the new specifications shovel operators will be paid $7 per day.

For the past six years L. R. Reynolds has held the contract to supply the county with gravel.

Bill Hawkins, High School Leader, Wins Scholarship

William (Bill) Hawkins, 18, of 2331 Benton way, Santa Ana, is the first person to have conferred upon him the George J. Presley scholarship to Stanford university.

Young Hawkins, who was graduated from Santa Ana high school in June, was president of the high school student body, president of the sophomore, junior and senior classes, chairman of the self-government committee, an honor student, football player, for three years a member of the track team, and one year captain of the track team.

In the letter, notifying him of his unanimous selection by the committee, composed of Leland Cutler, J. M. Rice and James Reynolds, Hawkins was told he has the best wishes of the late Mr. Presley's friends who have made the scholarship possible. In another letter from Mr. Reynolds, the Presley scholarship was explained.

Mr. Presley was considered by his friends to be the finest Stanford man that ever lived.

"He came from a poor section of San Francisco, working his way through high school, first as a newsboy and then as an office boy with a prominent legal firm," said Mr. Reynolds' letter. "He also worked his way through Stanford without any outside assistance whatever, and while there made a brilliant record as a student and as an athlete. He graduated from the law school, and because he wished to stay there

CANYON ROAD OPENING ON SATURDAY

A dedication marking completion of the Sulphur Slide cutoff in Santa Ana canyon will be staged next Saturday afternoon when the cutting of a ribbon will officially open the new route.

Frank A. Tetley of Riverside will officiate. The ceremony is being arranged by George Kellogg of Yorba Linda, president of the associated chambers of commerce and secretary of the Imperial Highway association; Nat Neff, Orange county highway superintendent; and S. V. Cortelyou, state highway district engineer.

Short addresses will be given at the road opening ceremony. The new route cuts out a grade at Sulphur Slide and locates the road where it was when the 1916 flood occurred. The river channel has been changed and a reinforced levee was built to protect the highway, which is higher than the original road. The new stretch of 3.4 miles is 20 feet wide, built of concrete, and has 10-foot oiled shoulders. Sharp and Fellows were the contractors, the job costing $185,627. The cutoff runs from Peralta school to Gypsum creek.

Saturday at 6:30 p. m. the Imperial Highway association will meet at the Yorba Linda Women's clubhouse, where Mr. Tetley will give the principal address.

BOARD ORDERS COURT LIGHTS

Definite steps toward lighting two tennis courts at each of the Santa Ana junior high schools were taken by the board of education last night when they instructed George Newcom, business manager of the board, to obtain bids for the work. Plans and specifications for the project were drawn by E. B. Kruger, Los Angeles electrical engineer, who last week with George De Rouhae, representative of the Santa Ana Tennis club, brought the project before the board.

Plans presented by Mr. Kruger call for installation of a meter system which will make it possible, by depositing 25 cents, to play under the lights for approximately 45 minutes at a time. It is believed that sufficient revenue will be realized from the meter system to make the courts self-sustaining.

Estimates presented to the board revealed that the courts will be lighted for a total cost of $1224. The tennis club has contributed $135 toward the project. Work on the project will start within the next few weeks.

NEFF HEADS GROUP TO PREPARE FORMS FOR TRAFFIC CHECK

In a letter signed by Lloyd Bowman, secretary of the County Engineers' association, Nat Neff, Orange county highway superintendent, was notified yesterday of his appointment as chairman of a committee to prepare forms for a traffic check in all counties of the state. The appointment was made by A. C. Fulmore, Riverside county engineer, president of the association. Other members of the committee are George Jones, Los Angeles county, and Howard Cozzens, Monterey county.

Under senate bill 552, recently signed by Gov. Merriam, it becomes the duty of county surveyors or county engineers to make annual traffic counts on all county roads in the state. Mr. Neff said it has not been decided whether he will make the count in Orange county or whether the task will be given to County Surveyor W. K. Hillyard.

The committee, headed by Mr. Neff, will prepare forms for use in all counties in making the traffic check and make it possible to secure information that will correspond with that obtained by the state in similar counts on state highways.

M'CORMAC PLANS TWO SUNDAY ORGAN CONCERTS

Plans completed for two Sunday afternoon organ concerts, Halstead McCormac, choirmaster and organist of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah, today announced July 28 and August 25 as the dates for his musical programs.

The concerts will be presented in the First Methodist church at 4:30 o'clock. Laura Joiner, contralto, will be the assisting soloist at this week's recital. Esther Vogt, pianist, will play Joseph Clokey's "Symphonic Piece" in organ and piano duet with Mr. McCormac.

The public is invited to attend, and a silver offering will be taken.

COUNTY BAND IN CONCERT THURSDAY

Orange county's band under direction of T. D. Easton Collins will give its weekly concert tomorrow night in Birch park at 7:30 o'clock. Composed entirely of Orange county men, the band has been in existence for more than five years. It will make its second appearance at San Diego September 6.

COUNTY AID LOAD DROPS 81 DURING LAST WEEK

A decline of $1 in the case load of the State Emergency Relief administration was reported for the past week by Terrence Haloran, SERRA director, at the county SERRA committee meeting yesterday.

This leaves the total case load at 3569. The total has been declining for several months as persons on the SERRA rolls found jobs with private employers.

While groups and individuals fight over exploitation of the state's tidal oil at Huntington Beach, the Standard Oil company is walking off with the major portion of the black gold.

This was the situation as outlined today by Mayor T. B. Talbert of Huntington Beach, in the light of Governor Merriam's veto of the Burns bill. This measure would have allowed slant drilling from Standard Oil property at Huntington Beach, with a 3 per cent royalty to the city and one-sixth royalty to the state.

Some of the Standard's existing wells along the Huntington Beach bluffs are admittedly draining oil from the state pool. Others have "wandered" into the pool. They are getting state oil, according to Mr. Talbert.

Development Prevented

The governor's veto prevents development of the tidal resource by any other means, cutting the city and state out of royalties and preventing any other companies from participating in the oil, Mr. Talbert explained.

Mr. Talbert said the statements that there are 500,000 barrels of oil in the state pool is just propaganda, and that in reality state engineers and geologists estimate that the pool contains about 60,000,000 barrels.

In the meantime the Standard Oil company is drilling more wells which will drain state oil, he said. Eleven wells were drilled last year, nine of 10 of which are now flowing.

He recalled, The Standard has a leasehold extending along the coast about three-quarters of a mile to the Bolsa Chica Gun club property line, and also has a lease on 2200 acres of Bolsa Chica property, Mr. Talbert said.

The company always has one or two wells in the process of being drilled, said Mr. Talbert.

The Standard has offered to the state a payment of about $455,000 for oil taken from the pool, but so far the check has not been cashed, according to the mayor. It has been held up because the state wishes a sounder legal basis for acceptance of the money.

There is on the state books a section of law authorizing the state surveyor general to enter agreements with those who have or are draining state oil so that the state can be compensated. This is contained in the statutes of 1933, chapter 593, page 1523, and is an act to amend section 12 of the statutes of 1921, page 404. It relates to the leasing of state lands and the taking of mineral or petroleum products therefrom.

Royalty From 80 Wells

More than 80 wells drilled by independent operators in the Huntington Beach town lot area and whiskpocked into the state pool are paying approximately 11 per cent royalty to the state, it was learned. The money, it is understood, is being impounded as a result of a so-called gentlemen's agreement with the state.

These operators were defendants in injunction suits launched by the state and tried here. These cases never were reduced to a decision by the court, compromises being worked out instead. There is now no whiskpock drilling in the town lot area, according to Mr. Talbert. The state has let it be known that no compromise will be available for new wells.

In commenting on the vote, Mr. Talbert said the state is willing to tax the people, but has refused, through the veto, to take advantage of natural resources which would add one million or two million dollars a year to the state income without taxation.

NEARLY FIVE MILLION ARE HOMELESS

Yellow River Menaces Northern Provinces; Scores in Danger

SHANGHAI, Wednesday, July 24. (AP) — The Hankow Red Cross society announced today it had picked up 30,000 bodies of persons drowned in the present floods along the Han and Yangtze rivers near Hankow alone and reports from other points indicated a far greater loss of life.

While Central China turned to the greivous business of counting its dead, which were piling up by the tens of thousands along the banks of rivers from which flood waters were receding, the northern provinces continued to battle the floods of the Yellow river.

River On Rampage
The Yellow river, crashing barrier after barrier to swallow immense new areas of fertile farmlands, has already blanketed more than 10,000 square miles of the Shantung countryside.

Governor Han Fu Chu of Shantung sent an urgent telegram to Nanking reporting nearly 5,000,000 of his people homeless.

Dying Like Flies
The neighboring provinces of Hopei, Hohan and Shensi are also seriously hit. Chinese press reports say the refugees are clinging to the remnants of dykes under a pitiless mid summer sun and dying like flies.

Efforts are being concentrated to prevent the spread of the water into northern Kiangsu province, where a farming population of 1,000,000 in the low lying districts surrounding Hing-hwa is menaced.

The most strenuous labors failed to forestall the collapse of the dykes surrounding Hanyant lake on the Shantung Kiangsu border, where the water stood eight feet higher than the neighboring land.

Government authorities and relief agencies said the Yangtze's devastation of the five provinces affected is so immense that it still is impossible to estimate the total losses.

BOARD REFUSES PARKING MAP FUND REQUEST NEARLY READY

The board of supervisors declined to act yesterday on a request from the SERRA committee that $20,000 borrowed by the county under the $24,000,000 state relief bond act be turned over to that organization.

The delay in action was occasioned when Supervisor William Jerome protested turning over money borrowed by the county for use in the federal program. Assistant Attorney William Menton was instructed to study provisions of the act under which the money was borrowed for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the SERRA committee has the right to demand this money.

In protesting the proposed turn-over of funds, Supervisor Jerome said the money was borrowed by the county and will have to be repaid by the county. The money, he said, should be used for direct relief and not for the federal program. Approximately $45,000 of the money borrowed by the county remains unspent.

ELKS TO WELCOME DELEGATES BACK

Plans for August 6 to be a "welcome home" meeting for Don Jerome, William Garvin, and E. R. Majors, delegates of lodge No. 794 to the national Elks convention in Columbus, O., were outlined at the meeting of the lodge held last night.

Initiation was scheduled for the August 6 meeting, and the first meeting in September will be Garden Grove night.

A detailed map, showing conditions as they exist in Santa Ana's business section, will be finished by the middle of next week, it was predicted today by Councilman Ernest Layton, chairman of a committee making a parking survey.

The map will be the basis of studies to be made with a view to determining how parking facilities can be increased. It is being prepared under the supervision of City Engineer J. L. McBride, with the assistance of the State Emergency Relief administration here.

Working on the committee with Mr. Layton and Mr. McBride are Herbert L. Miller and Wilbur Barr of the chamber of commerce. Upon completion of the map the committee will meet and begin studies from which definite recommendations are expected to result.

The island is bordered with big jagged rocks. There aren't any harbors, there aren't any docks. Says Puffy, "Let's wait till this heavy wind ceases. Our lifeboat would surely be knocked all to pieces."

Woman's Club Section Is Hostess

Three Future Activities Planned at Business Session of Group

Strolling in the shade of overhanging trees, along flower-lined paths in the Long Beach Recreation park was the pleasant mid-summer experience of members of the Santa Ana Woman's club social section and their guests who picnicked at the park yesterday.

Luncheon was served at noon on tables in the picnic ground. Hostesses for the day were Mesdames William Castler, E. A. Elwell and Margaret Ahern.

Mrs. J. D. Watkins, social section chairman, presided for a business session in which Mrs. Earl M. Waycott, club president, greeted the guests. Mrs. E. A. Elwell, secretary, read the minutes of the last section activity, and plans were made for several future social affairs.

The rest of the afternoon was spent in playing games. Mesdames James C. Clark, Elwell, Waycott and Rolia R. Hays won prizes.

Another feature of the time was an impromptu talk by Mrs. L. A. Edmond of New Zealand, on the economic and social progress of her home country. The 70-year-old woman, who is visiting Mrs. Margaret Ahern, told of the existence of the old age pension and of free schools in New Zealand, and mentioned the change Linda Croker, taken place in her hometown since she was a child. She has lived all her life on the same street, which is on a tract of land her father settled many years ago, she said.

Others present were Mesdames A. E. Webster, James G. McCracken, Ahern, E. G. Warner, M. C. Ford, H. C. Eckel, S. E. Littrell, J. G. Limbird, William Castler, Nannie Myers, G. W. Cantor.

Lonely Girl in Search of Young Men Companions Finds Pleasant Dates Difficult to Obtain

By MARY STODDARD

Youth was meant to have a good time. Young men should find young women whom they like for companions. Life should be gay and carefree with scores of friends of both sexes near when one is 22. Always, however, comes the problem for a young man of how and where to meet girls who like the same things, are good sports, and hold similar ideals.

Still more difficult, however, does a girl find it to meet pleasant young men of high standards who will ask her to shows and dances. Though women have always been coquettes, even in this modern world men have the privilege of taking the initiative in making dates. Most girls are reluctant to obviously seek out young men whom they would like. Opportunities for meeting them are rare, and consequently, like the writer of the following letter, they find themselves, attractive, young, and full of fun, sitting at home.

Wants a Date

"Dear Mary Stoddard:

"My reputation is faultless—my character is beyond reproach—but what good does it do me? Whenever anybody tells me that I am a 'nice girl,' I could scream.

"I am 22 years old and have never had a real 'date' in my life. Fellows who are drunkards or who think that I need 'experience' are the only kind that have ever asked for 'dates.' I refused them all after the first time.

"I am not cross-eyed nor bow-legged. I am moderately attractive and try to cultivate good taste and sense.

"Now don't tell me that some day the right man will come along because by that time I shall have one foot in the grave. I want to go places and do things now, but evidently I am meant for me to sit by the fireside and knit.

"Sincerely,

"Impatient."

Ask Friends

I wonder, Impatient, if you've ever talked as frankly to some of your more popular friends as you have to me. From the tone of your letter, you're probably a girl individual, who would be an attractive companion for any young man. Your problem is how to meet them, of course. Why don't you ask some of your girl friends to get you an occasional date? Perhaps one of them has a brother who'd take you to shows or dances. If you don't go out very much, no doubt, you're self-conscious and embarrassed when you do have a date so that the young man is uncomfortable, too. This leaves both of you with the remembrance of an unpleasant evening.

I've known of several instances where a girl friend's brother had taken out his sister's pal just to be a good sport, shown her a grand time, introduced her to some other boys, and done all that he could to increase her self-confidence. You'll find that a little light banter with a chance acquaintance will give you added poise and may make you attractive enough for him to ask for a date.

Seek People

You'll find athletic clubs for mixed groups often afford pleasant companions, supervised dance halls have other people lonely like you, and churches have a fund of attractive young people. Broadening of your acquaintances among girls, a thing which is always easy through the many organizations of the town, will lead you into new channels. If you can afford it, take a trip to one of the nicer mountain resorts, and above all, stop being shy about telling your friends your problem. You're right, 22, you will have a foot in the grave if you just sit and wait for a man to come along. There are very few girls so fortunate that young men flock around them naturally. Write me to tell me what luck you have.

Present were Mesdames Alma Kellogg, Cora Adams, Fannie Reeves, Sarah Marvin, Hattie Stowe, Susie Lamb, Anna Sharp, Margaret Hill, Anna Gale, Dora Sweeny, Elma McKay, Roepke, Wallace, Fannie Rose, and Mabel F. Leach. Guests were Mrs. August Otto of St. Paul, Minn., and Mrs. George De Late, of Luverne, Minn., houseguests of Mrs. Rose, and Harold Rasmussen.

Another quilt was begun and the group worked on knee-rolls for disabled soldiers and stripped rags for rugs. Those who want to continue the quilting are to meet at the hall Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

ALL-DAY MEETING HELD BY MOTHERS' CLUB OF LEGION
Veterans' hall was the scene of the monthly meeting of the American Legion mothers' club Monday. Mrs. Susie Lamb was in charge of the covered-dish luncheon which was served at noon. Mrs. Fannie Reeves was in charge of the dining room.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women. If there is a question that interests or puzzles you, suggest it, and we will collect opinions on it for you!

What type of reading do you enjoy most?

Mrs. Edward L. Klatt—That depends on my mood. There are times when I like nothing better than a good mystery, other times when I want something good and solid like biography or history, and still others when frothy fiction answers my purpose. As in food, eating nothing but rich foods soon goes flat. One's reading should be a balanced diet. Just now I'm reading a mystery book.

Miss Lella Watson—I read all types of writing, in various languages. I think I enjoy fiction most.

Blanche Small Brown—I really think I enjoy biography as much as anything. It gives us the things men and women have done, tells us their innermost thoughts and explains how they accomplished what they did. It's most interesting to read biographies. I also enjoy books on travel, because I like to travel. I prefer informative books.

Mrs. Mary Langford—I am very fond of reading, and always have been. I believe I enjoy biographies, travel and philosophy books most.

Royce Edison and Mrs. Richard Robbins are supervising decorations. Booths will be under direction of Irene Lawrence, Virginia Lawrence, Genevieve E. Hulse, Helen Ferguson, Harry E. Owings Jr., Grace Jenkins and Dorothy Jenkins.

Pauline Cave and Elmer Ritner are serving on the refreshments committee. Harry Owings Jr. and Pauline Cave are in charge of the ticket. Eldon Kingenburgh is in charge of posters.

PATTERN 9302

Take a second look at this sketch for there's more to it than appears at first! A glance convinces one it's exactly the kind of frock Mother and Daughter approve of—but a second look proves that fetching little puffed sleeve can be omitted if it's a cool frock you're after. The fly-away ruffle encircling the shoulders is lovely if the dress is of crisp fabric like swiss or dimity. For a sturdy play dress, the small sketch illustrates tailored perfection achieved without the ruffle. This frock is all things to all girls—just choose the fabric and run it up in no time. Complete. ## Scraps From a Gardener's Scrapbook

By IDA D. DEAKINS

Good evening, fellow gardeners! Don't you think these warm, lazy days are meant for relaxing and resting without a thought of what should be done in the garden? If you'll read these notes, I'll try and do your thinking for you and give you a hint from time to time, and a few reminders. So enjoy and use your garden, and while you're reading and sitting, or just sitting under a tree or in the shade of a vine-covered arbor, I'll get out my scrapbook and send along to you a bit from here and there.

Time to Plant
I wonder—did you forget to plant some thionia speciosa seeds? If you did, see if you can't get some plants from your nurseryman. You'll love its flaming orange, especially for Halloween. Try it in a deep blue or black bowl. Its common name is Mexican sunflower or daisy, and 'tis said it was a favorite flower of the Aztecs.

Did you know that every bug club in the country is holding a convention in California this year? Don't be an entertaining host! Pick, spray and poison. Slugs and snails are slow travelers, but they'll arrive. Put some iron oxide in their path. It's better than a detour sign. If your petunias look scraggly, cut them back and give them some food. You'll have a new crop of blooms to pay for your trouble.

Now is the time to begin thinking of sweet peas for Christmas blooming. Find a nice warm place where annuals can be taken out, so the soil can be mellowing for seeds next month. Do you want a spot in your garden to reflect the blue of a summer sky? Try some plumbago larpetata. It's a perennial, about 12 inches tall, with lovely gentian-blue flowers from springtime until frost. I know you'll like it.

Looking into my scrapbook I find that the Rev. Margaret Sangster: "I have learned many things from my garden. I have grown, with my flowers, in tact and in gentleness, in laughter and in religion. For a garden holds the essence of life and tells the story of life's loveliness."

ST. PETER'S CHURCH IS TO HONOR NEW MEMBERS AT PICNIC

Honoring new members of St. Peter's Lutheran church, the annual congregational picnic dinner will be held at Jack Fisher memorial park Friday.

William H. Fields will act as master of ceremonies, and the address of welcome will be made by A. Wilken. Speakers from the three organizations in charge will talk.

Members are to bring a covered-dish and their own table service. Coffee, cream, and sugar will be furnished by the Brotherhood. The league will decorate the tables.

To the largest family attending, a prize will be given, the Rev. H. W. Meyer said today. Friends of the congregation are also urged to be present. The pot-luck dinner will be served at 6:45 o'clock.

RECENT CRITICISMS OF LATE PICTURES ISSUED BY P. T. A.

Estimates issued recently by the motion picture committee of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers on late releases are given here:

"Anna Karenina brings to the screen in an impressive portrayal of a universal theme, Count Tolstoy's unforgettable tragedy," the review says. "The direction is lavish, authentic, and beautiful, the photography is of the finest, particularly the out-of-focus Anna with real feeling and her scenes with Freddie Bartholomew are touching in their simplicity and naturalness. Good for the family."

"Easily one of the screen's finest operatic pictures, 'One Night of Love,' starring Grace Moore is given family rating. 'Lilium' is scheduled for adults. John Boles in 'Orchids to You' is given family rating. Others taking the family rating are 'Stranded,' 'My Song For You,' and 'Calm Yourself.' 'Escapade' is slated for adults.

The bride wore gray and a corsage of gardenias. Miss Mary Hare of Glendale and the bride's son, George Shomaker, attended the couple. Mrs. Hare and Miss Betty Shomaker of Santa Ana were also present. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony. Mr. Fatland, formerly an executive of Forest Lawn Memorial park, has been in charge for the past six months of the used car department for Otto Hahn.

Barbara Will Be On Stage

Climaxing the dinner and reception to be given in honor of Barbara Rowland, daughter of Mayor Fred C. Rowland who won the title of California's best outdoor girl in competition with 42 other contestants at the Salinas rodeo and who was named queen of the rodeo, a personal appearance on the stage of the Broadway theater will be made by Miss Rowland tonight.

Miss Rowland will greet her friends and admirers from the stage of the Broadway theater, attired in the western costume she wore at Salinas, in the period between the first and second evening shows.

She will be introduced by Manager Lester J. Fountain of the theater, and will give a description of the Salinas rodeo and of the various contests staged. The appearance at the theater will follow the banquet and reception in the Green Cat cafe tonight in which city and county school officials and others will take part.

New Films At West Coast

A new double feature program with two first run films on the bill, "Silk Hat Kid," a thrilling romantic drama, and "Hooray for Love," musical comedy-drama, open an engagement of three days at the West Coast theater today. Ann Southern and Gene Raymond have the leading roles in "Hooray for Love" as a young woman who aspires to be a musical comedy star and a young man whose ambition is to be a Broadway producer. Comedy is injected by two teams, Pert Kelton and Etienne Girardot, and Thurston Hall and Georgia Caine.

Lew Ayres plays the part of a bodyguard to Paul Kelly, cafe owner in a big city, in "Silk Hat Kid." When Ayres meets and falls in love with his employer's girl friend, intense rivalry results. Mae Clark and William Harrigan have leading roles.

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER CANFIELD
Two more broadcasts to go and they're off for New York. That's the radio schedule for Gracie Allen and George Burns. The program tonight, KJLH, 6 to 6:30 o'clock, was originally scheduled to be their last from Hollywood. But the mail was so crowded last week with requests for tickets to see the pair broadcast that rather than disappoint so many fans they've put their trip off a week. This is one show that isn't going off the air during the summer months. The comedies are contracted for the remainder of the year.

Another western star is soon to leave for New York. Ben Klason was the last to successfully land in Radio City. And now Pat O'Shea, red-headed ballad singer, expects to audition in the big town by the end of August.

Pat leaves the NBC staff in San Francisco July 27, and flies to Los Angeles where he will:

Fill an engagement at the Paramount theater.

Sing at the Trocadero in Hollywood.

Marry Pauline Starr, Hollywood dancer.

And then try his luck in the big time.

We wish him success on all four counts.

The program for the SERA concert orchestra, KPAC, 7 to 8 o'clock, is as follows:

Hawaiian Suite, Colegide-Taylor
Two French Dances, Richard Strauss
Improvisation, Richard Strauss
Wine, Women and Song, Johann Strauss
Tannhauser March, Wagner

'Little Helen' Flies Plane Big Enough to Swallow Her

WASHINGTON (AP)—Helen Richey's great-grandmother would be shocked no doubt, to see her 25-year-old great-granddaughter finish a day's work.

She brings a huge trimotor plane, on the Washington-Detroit run, down onto the Washington airport, taxis to the hangar, turns off the switch, and looks at her wrist-watch. It says 3:50—and that's "a. m." the dark morning hour.

"Little Helen Richey," all five feet, four inches of her, is a pilot who has stepped into the front rank. She is the nation's first woman to fly the mails, and the first woman to hold a regular flying job with an air line.

Holds Endurance Record
A uniform goes with the job slacks, a trim military coat and an overseas cap. A few feet away she looks like "one of the boys." But she is such a trim little figure the trimmer she flies could swallow her at one bite, or so it looks when she climbs into her "job."

Her slight figure is misleading. She turns her wide, calm, gray eyes on a person, and it's easy to see why the Pittsburgh air line officials said one day: "Report to Washington. You're on the payroll."

She established the women's endurance flight record in December, 1933, with Frances Marsalis. They were up 237 hours and 45 minutes. The record still stands.

WELL I DECLARE—THE MOVIE HOUSE DOWN THE STREET IS RUNNING AN OLD PICTURE THAT I PLAYED IN THREE YEARS AGO—I MUST SEE IT!

BUCK ROGERS, 25th CENTURY A. D.

WHEN KING INNALDO OF MARS WAS OVER-THROWN BY THE REBEL ZARBO—WILMA AND I WENT TO THE RED PLANET ON A SECRET MISSION—SHE TO FIND INNALDO—AND I TO TRACE Z-24, THE PRESIDENT'S SECRET AGENT ON MARS—I FOUND Z-24'S BASE—IT HAD BEEN RANSACKED BY ZARBISTS—INQUIRING AT A NEARBY VILLA, I WAS TRICKED—AND GASED BY GALDO, AND A MYSTERIOUS GIOL NAMED NELDA.

© 1935 JOHN F. DILLE CO. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

WHEN I CAME TO—I WAS BOUND—AND HEARD VOICES—

HE CAN'T HEAR US, NELDA—HE'S OUT—FROM THE GAS—I STILL SAY—THE CANAL FOR HIM!

NO, GALDO! LET HIM GO—WE'RE GOING TO ABANDON THIS PLACE ANYHOW—TO HOP TO LORO!

LORO! THAT'S THE CAPITAL CITY!

A CONFESSED ZARBIST! AND NELDA INSISTS ON TURNING HIM LOOSE! HMPH! WELL—SHE GETS HER WAY! I'LL UNTIE HIM AND—

I'LL PRETEND I'M STILL UNCONSCIOUS!

HE UNTIED ME—AND THEN I DON'T CARE IF YOU'RE WITH—OR AGAINST ZARBO! I OWE YOU THAT FOR GASSING ME!

DRUNKEN AUTO DRIVERS

FROM two different sources, as it happens, there come to The Journal office today figures indicating that repeal has not brought, as certain dry leaders have been charging, a great increase in drunken driving. Rather, the statistics indicate, a fairly sizeable lessening of this traffic hazard has taken place.

The Nation in its current number reports that New York state police statistics show a decrease of 33 per cent in arrests of drivers for drunkenness during 1933 and 1934 (beer and repeal years) as compared with four typical prohibition years.

The Nation adds that other states show comparable declines, mentioning among them Connecticut with 32.2 per cent, Illinois 33.8, Iowa 40, Michigan 34 and Virginia 33 per cent. "Pennsylvania alone shows an increase—29 per cent," adds the periodical.

From Repeal Associates at Washington was received a news release today citing figures from California cities, representing more than a third of this state's population, that show a 10 per cent decline in arrests of drunken drivers since beer and liquor were legalized. Excerpts from this article follow:

Official police statistics from nine cities, complete from 1928 to 1934, show an average of 1382 arrests annually in four typical prohibition years as compared with 1257 in the beer and repeal years.

	Prohibition Years National and State			Year of Changing Opinion		Beer	Repeal
	1928	1929	1930	1931	1932	1933	1934
Bakersfield	5	13	13	25	29	60	150
Los Angeles	957	930	1022	797	709	865	489
Modesto	25	17	31	28	17	22	26
Oakland	108	90	46	57	111	88	294
Richmond	25	38	32	23	26	57	66
San Francisco	317	299	228	203	152	118	151
Santa Ana	34	29	51	53	44	55	54
Santa Clara	7	4	7	15	8	6	6
San Leandro	0	0	0	1	1	4	4

The census bureau in Washington has just issued its report on deaths from automobile accidents in 86 cities of 100,000 or more population for the first 28 weeks of 1935. The report shows 4508 deaths in 1935, as compared with 4541 for the same period of 1934; 4700 for 1931 and 4467 for 1930. The average for the two repeal periods is 4524 as compared with 4587 for the two prohibition years—a decrease of 53.

We have been told that figures don't lie but that liars do figure. Anyhow, there are the statistics for what they may be worth, and anybody may draw his own conclusions. As The Nation says, "They may indicate a real decline in the intemperate consumption of strong waters; they may, on the other hand, merely indicate that 10 years of drinking prohibition spirits have so fortified the American driver that he can now hold equal quantities of better liquor with results less damaging to public safety."

But be this all as it may, the fact still remains that we kill far too many people on the highways, and that too great a proportion of the deaths are caused by drunken drivers.

THEY EAT RAW MEAT

WHILE France was proposing a treaty that would leave Ethiopia nominally independent but actually under the heel of Italy's Mussolini, Emperor Haile Selassie yesterday celebrated his 44th birthday by serving a banquet of raw meat to his warriors. They gathered around him in great numbers in Addis Ababa, the seat of Ethiopian government, and presented the conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah with snarling young lions as birthday gifts, the news dispatches said.

The world is fascinated by the pending hostilities in the East African state, first, because it is apparent to the world that Italy's cause is one purely of conquest; second, because it attracts under-dog sympathy, and, third, because the expected war will be a test of supremacy between an army of wild border tribes, led by the emperor's crack, well-trained troops, and the great hosts of Italy versed in modern, mass killing.

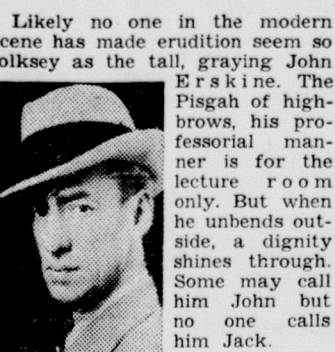

France is very much interested in the seeming inevitable clash because the front-door entrance and port to Ethiopia is Djibouti, French Somaliland. Djibouti is the base of the French 500-mile railway from the coast directly inland to Addis Ababa. The railway is Ethiopia's only modern connection with the outside world. French interests are too great to have them disturbed by the invading Italians, and the feudal Ethiopian chieftains are too bloodthirsty to be on the warpath in French Somaliland, especially after they have listened to one of Emperor Selassie's ringing calls to arms after a banquet on raw meat.

The followers of the king of kings are a determined lot. In spite of discipline enforced by the emperor, the border tribes have a habit of going back to first principles when they fight. Christianity was first introduced to Ethiopia 330 A. D., and although every road in the cities and towns seems to lead to a church, the religion has failed to reach the untamed fighters of the border. The emperor has been embarrassed not a little over this because he has been unable to guarantee to the League of Nations that the savages will not mutilate captives. On account of this lack of assurance the Red Cross will not help Ethiopia in any war with Italy.

Ethiopia bears the proud distinction of never having been defeated. Besides its fascinating peaceful traditions, which extend far back into the beginning of civilization, the country has made militarism its main objective. Most of the mountain warriors are interested only in things military, and the first question they ask a visitor from the United States is how many soldiers we have. The military is one of the supreme castles in Ethiopia; the other is the clergy.

We shall hear a great deal of this interesting empire during the coming months. The conquering lion has been prodded once too often, we fear.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

Likely no one in the modern scene has made erudition seem so folksy as the tall, graying John Erskine. The Pisgah of high-brows, his professorial manner is for the lecture room only. But when he unbends outside, a dignity shines through. Some may call him John but no one calls him Jack.

A gentleman of a certain ordinary versatility, he is composer of distinction, a pianist of concert calibre, an author of best sellers such as "The Private Life of Helen of Troy" and an after dinner wit. He can write a jolly piece for a sophisticated weekly as well as a treatise for the London Mercury.

Dr. Erskine as a first nighter displays a catholicity. He's always at the Shakespearean and Ibsen revivals but is not averse to an occasional Scandals or Follies or a peek-in at Minsky's. Any hostess who can capture him is certain to have her party labeled a success.

A frequent Atlantic crosser, he is just as popular in London, Paris and Berlin. Princess Kropotkin recently reported Erskine's newest fad. He delves into statute books for goofy laws. In Colorado a law against fishing horseback. In Indiana against leading maids astray teaching them to roller skate.

Floyd Gibbons recently buried his father in Washington, D. C. After the services he had to fly to Chicago and from his hotel room phoned the mortician to send his bill by messenger. He made out a check, mailed it and flew. Later a pseudo Floyd Gibbons phoned the mortician to send the bill to a cafe, he had misplaced the first one. And to send $250 in cash, his banker's check being that amount in excess of the bill. A faker, eye-patch and all, got away with the deception.

Harry P. Burton, as fagelman for the Cosmopolitan magazine, is the most self-effacing of the big shot editors. He is rarely seen in haunts of the literati, at the theater or night clubs. A thin, wiry fellow with sparkling eyes, he is a whip-lash of energy. Writers see him only in his office. Every night he takes home a bus and a stack of manuscripts and fairly devours them, being trained to grasp the import of an entire page almost at a glance. He began his career as a star reporter in Cleveland, was later a New York correspondent and editor of McCall's. He is a brother of Justice Burton Morgan, the fiction writer. Among those he has given the first big writing chance are Temple Bailey and Lloyd Douglas, now best sellers.

Before Harry Leon Wilson retired to Carmel and when an editorial writer on Fuch he launched a defense of the bicycle—of all things! A Woman's Rescue league was formed to choke off feminine cycling. The league vowed that 75 per cent of the immorality of the nation was due to this vice and the wheel was characterized as "the Devil's Advance Agent." The contention was made, quite seriously, that the majority of "fallen women" were recruited from cyclists. Manufacturers were greatly worried by the campaign. Press agents were hired to help stem the opposition.

The old orchid pink Murray Hill hotel has re-established its famous horse-show bar. It is bigger than the original around which stood many notables. Grover Cleveland quaffed a thin rye there on news of his election to the presidency. P. T. Barnum also used to drop in with his cane and order a treat for the house. Mark Twain was an occasional drop-in on a Bourbon toddy. Also the elder J. P. Morgan for a Napoleon brandy, and many other figures of the Elegant Eighties.

One-Eye Connelly confesses his first failure was a crashing. He crashed a cropper at the easiest entrance of all for the crasher—a Broadway theater. He edged up to a man collecting tickets and simulated companionship, but the doorman balked him with an "Hey you!" and a thumb-jerk toward the sidewalk.

Howdy, folks! It's very restful driving in Coast highway afternoon traffic. You just sit in your automobile and watch the pedestrians whiz by.

NOMINATED FOR THE HALL OF FAME ELIZABETH TAYLOR — Only woman in the United States who, starting on a motor trip with her husband, has never queried anxiously: "Are you sure you didn't forget to turn off the water heater in the kitchen?"

"Why are you so opposed to my marrying Frank?" demanded daughter indignantly. "In the first place," declared her dad, "you are not strong enough to take in washing and you don't know anything about keeping boards, and, in the second place, my salary isn't large enough to stand another lazy son in the family."

BE AN ATHLETE! (Advt. in Los Angeles paper) See-Saw, large double teeter-totter, cheap. Telephone —

"What became of your gasoline station friend?" "He gave me the air."

NOW YOU TELL ONE "There is nothing I like better," declared the owner of the beach cottage, "than to be awakened at 5:30 in the morning by the roar of an outboard motorboat."

OVER THE PHONE (As reported by B. L. G.) "Dr. Blank — come quickly—my wife swallowed the baby—no, my baby swallowed my wife—no, my wife's baby's safety pin—I swallowed my safety pin—my wife had the baby and dropped the pin. I mean the baby picked up my wife—please hurry!"

ORIGINAL A strange reporter Is Jim McKnot; He doesn't call A child a "tot."

East: "I can't live on $20,000 a year." West: "What?" "I only make $3000!"

YE DIARY Thys day we do have capons steamed in madeira, with sweet parsnips braized with maize and shallots, most tasty, and a deep apple paste, with Devonshire cream, most filling to the stomach. And so, after the repast, reclining on the davenport, mighty restful, except that a fly doth buzz around my nose. Hash, the pun, doth sleep contentedly upon my feet, and Esbie Juice doth play her harmonica 18 inches from my ear. A blessing, say I, on such a peaceful domestic life!

Let's all go out driving!

Ernest Horsman stops me at Fourth and Main and wants to know if STOP means GO. Well, in any event I was on my way.

Nick Meyer totters into the office in a feeble condition and says the cane advertised in Monday evening's column belongs to him. What Nick would like to know, and the same information would be satisfactory to me, is how the cane happened to get into The Journal office in the first place. Nick easily identified the property, which was a condition. He said it still had the San Diego atmosphere.

So far as I am concerned the closing of Caliente is no heart-ache. The only thing I ever got out of the place was a bad memory.

Been expecting a letter from Bob Mize who is being nursed in the arms of Bryce canyon, telling how the glory of heaven melts into Utah's wonderland, and the pinnacles and minarets try to compensate by reaching back again. Evidently the poetic mood of the Santa Ana attorney has not responded as yet to the natural beauty of the environment, but there's still time.

Bill Majors may get home before this item appears. What I want him to explain is the reason for sending me a souvenir card with so much wax. Don't he know that the traditional Saturday night bath is not only a fond memory, but still a habit?

Ho, hum, when the vacation period raps at my door I'm going to take and solve the slant drilling controversy at Huntington Beach, and if it can be done, old man Hulton won't have a monopoly on the "Whatta Man" slogan.

Harry V. (Paint) Hanson, he of $5 middle initial, offers a speaker for a service club who was to explain colors. Wonder what he thinks about the administration red? Understand there is quite a deficit.

Stanley Goode is walking again, unassisted. On the return trip from Mexico City the going was not so good. He has now discarded the cane and is able to walk erect, look you in the eye, and what he says to you will depend largely upon what you say to him.

It may be a breach of etiquette to go into a dining room in your shirt sleeves but I've seen 'em come in without any sleeves, and some of 'em looked like the interior of Mother Hubbard's cupboard. So that for capricious fashion.

Notice reaches my desk that R. Y. Williams is to be chairman of the day for the city hall dedicatory exercises to be held next Tuesday, and that Senator Neils Edwards is to introduce Governor Merriam. Presiding is an old Spanish custom for Judge Williams and, having at divers times and in devious ways met Edwards and Merriam, the outlook for an agreeable session is propitious. Now if Neils can be restricted to dedication facts the meeting will be prosaic. If unrestricted there is a remote probability that one of his stories might find its way into the proceedings. And if it does the exercises will be worth attending.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, July 24.

24.—The American housewife does not know it yet, but one of the most efficient pieces of hatchet ever perpetrated in a secret congressional committee session has just been put across. It affects her in regard to that most important of all foods—milk.

Last session congress voted a nation-wide investigation of the milk industry by the federal trade commission. There was ample evidence of excess profits and racketeering at the expense of both the housewife and the farmer.

The first months of the investigation substantiated these reports. Although the commission worked only in the Philadelphia and Connecticut milk-sheds, it uncovered sensational evidence of price-fixing, gouging and defrauding. These two probes exhausted its funds, with other important areas yet to be covered.

The President, appreciating the importance of the investigation, sent a personal communication to the senate sub-committee asking that the probe be continued.

The committee held no public hearings, turned down the President's request. Backers of the investigation, doing their own investigating, uncovered the following facts:

That Colorado's stumpy Senator Alva B. Adams, chairman of the subcommittee, took a leading part in wielding the axe on the President's request.

That Senator Millard Tydings, socialist Marylander, and Senator Lester J. Dickinson, Iowa's hopeful presidential aspirant, were Adams' chief lieutenants in the axing.

BATHTUB STOPPER TO EFFICIENT Jesse I. Straus, once head of Macy's New York department store, red tape is anathema. But unfortunately, as Ambassador to France, he must submit to one of the most red-tape-ridden bureaus of the government—the state department.

When Senator Bob Wagner visited Paris some time ago, he found Straus complaining that the state department would not send him bathtub stoppers for the new American embassy.

"Why don't you go out and buy them at the five-and-ten," asked Wagner.

"Because they are government property," replied Straus, "and I am not permitted to buy government property without going through the state department, which must advertise for bids and accept the lowest bidder."

"Meanwhile, all the water is running out of the bathtub," Straus complained. He thought up exploiting Chuck Connors as the Mayor of Chinatown, suggesting his many but one cozier cat and bulldog, "busker" along the Broadway curbs before that.

vision and community management. Many of the tenant farmers also lack responsibility for care of equipment, would much prefer to remain tenants.

Derieux has recommended, therefore, that resettlement in the South consist of getting farmers established on their own individual farms, not communities. By taking the best qualified of the tenant farmers, their level gradually may be raised.

In contrast to this is the home-state of Reidsville, Va., where Miss Elsie Clapp has instituted closely managed and paternalistic community activities.

Another contrast is the suburban development at Houston, Tex., where workers drive out to what are called "suburban gardens." There is no government management.

The resettlement administration is studying types of settlement best suited to certain localities and will move accordingly.

HE KNEW SELASSIE THE ONLY man in the state department who knows Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia is Charles Lee Cooke, veteran expert on who should sit where in Washington society.

For years Cooke has arranged the seating of official dinners. If he had been consulted in advance of the Dolly Gann-Allice Longworth row, it never would have happened.

When Haile Selassie was crowned Emperor five years ago, Cooke went to Addis Ababa as bearer of the official American present—a gold-framed photograph of Herbert Hoover. The king of England presented a one-ton wedding cake; the president of France an especially equipped airplane; and the king of Italy 500 bottles of Chianti.

On the trip Mr. Cooke guarded Mr. Hoover's photograph so much to the exclusion of all else, that his pocket was picked of $300.

Note — This week President Roosevelt issued a decree extending Cooke's service to the state department for one year, despite the fact that he was 70 years old yesterday.

MERRY-GO-ROUND CHAUNCEY DEPEW'S desk, one of the most ornate pieces of furniture in the capital, is now used by Russell Arundel, secretary of Rhode Island's Republican Senator Metcalf. When Dewey died he asked that the desk be kept always in an atmosphere of loyal republicanism. It is of Italian design and has concealed buttons which open secret closets.

Ewing Mitchell, discharged assistant secretary of commerce, has become something of a mystery man in Washington. With offices in a downtown hotel, he holds conferences with various anti-New Dealers, is suspected of teamwork with McCarl and Lew Douglas.

Congresswoman Virginia Jenckes of Indiana is grooming herself to be the first woman nominated for vice president. Her publicity campaign to put the American flag on every government building succeeded so well that she looks forward to bigger and better things. Her interference with District of Columbia affairs, however, aroused the ire of Congressman Mary Norton, of New Jersey, chairman of the House D. C. committee. Mrs. Norton says: "That woman is impossible!"

Three buffaloes were broken "to lead" by a lariat champion in Oklahoma.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

JULY 24, 1920

Those who were in Birch park last night had the pleasure of listening to another fine program by the Santa Ana band. Every number was well played, but no doubt the last number, a descriptive hunting scene, was the most enjoyed. The boys are improving steadily in their work under the direction of W. Frank Harris, and are putting out a good class of music for the Wednesday night concerts.

The following were recent guests at Modjeska Hot Springs: Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sprague, Santa Ana; J. C. Stone, Marietta; Le Febvre, Amy West, and Nellie Meier of Orange; W. H. Romp of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Marsh and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Clark of Anaheim.

Mrs. R. H. English, Mrs. M. Berry, and Mrs. Olive Lopez have returned from a trip to Yosemite, where they went with 400 members of the Fraternal Brotherhood. Among other Santa Anans in the valley are Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Morrow, Misses Carey Harvey, Marie Rittenhouse, Nelson Right and Lena Potter.

Frank Ey returned today from a visit of 10 days with his sons, Alfred and George, and their families in San Francisco. Mr. Ey returned with a severe cold, and not very much love for the climate of San Francisco.

A bath without a bath tub—and with a gallon of water—that is the latest bath outfit to make its presence known in Santa Ana. The contrivance doesn't take any space, and you don't have to have a bathroom to use it either; you can use it in any room anywhere, and when you get through bathing, you don't have to empty a tub. It is known as the Allen Portable Bathing apparatus.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Specialists—Too Many In This Age

We are constantly reminded that this is a day of specialization. Every business and profession and industry has been sliced into neat divisions and carefully demarcated. Codes of ethics, procedures and prerequisites are minutely compiled pertaining to each specialized portion. Analysis has oftentimes been carried to absurd extremes. In magnifying one part of the organism we have lost its relative position and importance. Doctors and surgeons have specialized so closely that they appear to regard a tissue or a disease as an entity in itself.

Lawyers likewise have buried themselves in musty compartmentalized systems, with workers everywhere. The general practitioner, be he doctor, lawyer, teacher, banker or tradesman, is vanishing from view. Instead of human workmen, dealing with health and social problems as they affect living creatures, there is springing up a ghastly crop of scientific automata, unfeeling, unhuman, insensible, from which the soul and life have fled. Unchecked specialization—it leads only to endless division and hopeless chaos.
